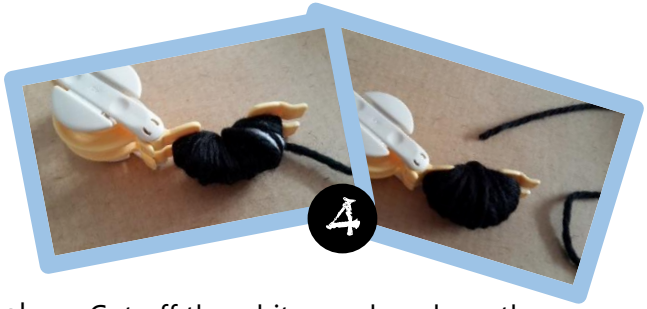
You will need: white wool, black wool, pom pom maker, fabric scissors, googly eyes, black felt

Open one side of the pom pom maker and wrap around a thick layer of black wool. This half will be the top of your orca.

Wrap a few layers of white wool in a small section towards one end of the black wool. These will become the orca's white eye patches.



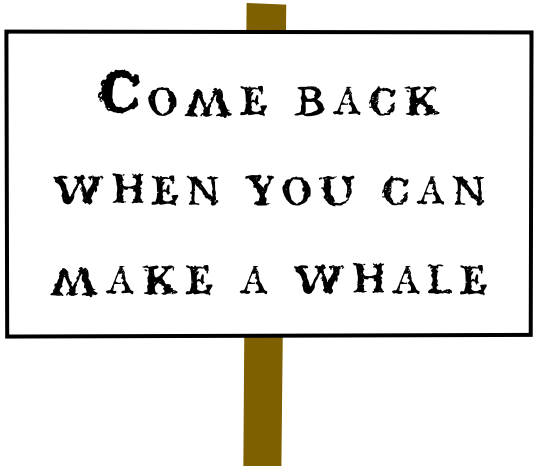
Cut off the white wool, and use the black wool to wrap over the white. Fill the whole of this half of the pom pom maker with black wool.

Close the half of the pom pom maker that's full of wool, and open the other half. Start to wrap white wool around the empty half. Wrap this half in white wool until it is about three-quarters full.

Wrap black wool over the white wool until this half of the pom pom maker is full.

Close the pom pom maker and use the fabric scissors to cut all around.

Cut a piece of black wool around 20cm long. Use it to tie a double knot to hold the pom pom together. Pull the two halves of the pom pom maker apart to remove the pom pom.



Stick on eyes and fins (made from black felt)
